Summary

I am an aspiring Software Developer and IT student with a strong passion for building practical, user-focused software solutions. I have hands-on experience in C# and ASP.NET MVC for web application development, as well as Flutter (Dart) for cross-platform mobile applications. My skill set also includes HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, enabling me to develop responsive and functional websites.

I enjoy solving problems through code and continuously improving my technical skills by working on real projects and learning modern development practices.
